

Roma Capitale, lead partner of URBACT European projects, meets ten partner cities.

Three days, 15-16-17 September, dedicated to the Farewell Meeting of RU:RBAN First Wave and the debut of RU:RBAN Second Wave.

Perfect weather, the representatives of ten European cities are guests of Roma Capitale, lead partner of both projects, at the outstanding settings of the Parco Ort9 of Casal Brunori, the Cartiera Latina in the Appia Antica Regional Park and the Casa del Giardinaggio.

Topics such as #governance #sustainability #sustainabledevelopment #inclusion #education #agriculture #resilience #regeneration #health are faced through the main tool of the Urban Gardens, managed by citizens and that Roma Capitale supports through an ad hoc Regulation since 2015 by the Department of Environmental Protection, Urban Gardens and Social Agriculture.

Starting in 2013 with the European project SIDIGMED, up to RU:RBAN First Wave, FUSILLI and RU:RBAN Second Wave, Rome is the Capital of good practices for urban and inclusive agriculture. A path activated and faced with courage and foresight by the Department of Development Projects and European funding Department of Roma Capitale and shared with the municipal agency Risorse per Roma.

A successful work that earned Rome the URBACT award for resilience in 2017: well before the pandemic made the topic "topical".

An example of practical and effective collaboration between citizens and Administration through the management of urban and community gardens.

Precious spaces because they become, in addition to being a source of sustenance with physical activity, healthy and zero-km food for many families, real "being places", active squares where citizens of every ethnicity, political orientation and generation meet daily, united in a common activity in which everyone integrates their own objectives.
